ANCHORAGE MAN SENTENCED TO FIVE YEARS IN FEDERAL PRISON FOR DISTRIBUTING CRACK AND METHAMPHETAMINE

Anchorage, Alaska – United States Attorney Nelson P. Cohen announced that on December 10, 2007, Kanthong Kent Sibounheuang, a resident of Anchorage, Alaska, was sentenced to sixty months in federal court for distributing crack and methamphetamine.

United States District Court Judge Timothy M. Burgess imposed the sentence on Sibounheuang, age 32, of 9499 Brayton Drive in Anchorage.

According to information presented to the court by Special Assistant United States Attorney Christine M. Thoreson, Sibounheuang distributed 58.6 grams of crack cocaine and 18.5 grams of methamphetamine to an undercover officer over the course of five separate occasions in March and April 2007.

Mr. Cohen commended the Anchorage Police Department Drug Enforcement Unit that conducted the investigation that led to the prosecution of Sibounheuang. SAUSA Thoreson is one of two prosecutors in the U.S. Attorney's Office who are funded by the Municipality of Anchorage for the purpose of prosecuting gang-related and violent crime cases.
